

Agenda Item 5C

“Concepts Common to All Direct Engagements”

Requirements	Application and Other Explanatory Material
Introduction Y.1 This proposed standard provides concepts common to all direct engagements. Y.2 Direct engagement attestation standards (direct engagement standards) have the same status and authority as assertion-based attestation standards (assertion-based standards); each addresses a different category of attestation engagement. Y.3 This proposed standard applies to engagements in which a CPA in the practice of public accounting is engaged to issue, or does issue, a practitioner’s examination, review, or specified procedures report on subject matter. (Ref: par. Y.A1) Y.4 This section is not applicable to professional services for which the AICPA has established other professional standards, for example, services performed in accordance with (Ref: par. Y.A2–Y.A3) <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a. AT-C sections 105-320 of the SSAEs (the assertion-based sections of the SSAEs)</li> <li>b. Statements on Auditing Standards,</li> </ul>	Introduction (Ref: par. Y.3-Y.4) Y.A1 The subject matter of a direct engagement may take many forms, including the following: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a. Historical or prospective performance or condition, for example, historical or prospective financial information, performance measurements, and backlog data. For example, using the responsible party’s financial records, a practitioner performs specified procedures related to payments based on a royalty agreement.</li> <li>b. Physical characteristics, for example, narrative descriptions or square footage of facilities</li> <li>c. Historical events, for example, the price of a market basket of goods on a certain date</li> <li>d. Analyses, for example, break-even analyses</li> <li>e. Systems and processes, for example, the effectiveness of an entity’s controls over the privacy of information it processes for user entities based on the trust services criteria</li> <li>f. Behavior, for example, corporate governance, compliance with laws and regulations, and human resource practices, for example a report on an entity’s sustainability practices based on occupational health and safety regulations.</li> </ul> The subject matter may be as of a point in time or for a period of time. Y.A2 The direct engagement standards do not apply to litigation services that involve pending or potential legal or regulatory proceedings before a trier of fact when the practitioner has not been engaged to issue, and does not issue, a practitioner’s direct examination, direct review, or specified procedures report and any of the following circumstances exist: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a. The service comprises being an expert witness.</li> </ul>

Requirements	Application and Other Explanatory Material
c. Statements on Standards for Accounting and Review Services, or d. Statements on Standards for Tax Services. Y.5 A direct engagement may be part of a larger engagement, for example, a feasibility study or business acquisition study that also includes, for example, an examination of a healthcare facility's compliance with criteria established by an industry group. In such circumstances, this section applies only to the direct examination, review, or specified procedures portion of the engagement.	b. The service comprises being a trier of fact or acting on behalf of one. c. The practitioner's work under the rules of the proceedings is subject to detailed analysis and challenge by each party to the dispute. d. The practitioner is engaged by an attorney to do work that will be protected by the attorney's work product or attorney-client privilege, and such work is not intended to be used for other purposes. Y.A3 Because performance audits performed pursuant to Government Auditing Standards do not require a practitioner's direct examination, direct review, or specified procedures report as described in this section, this section does not apply to performance audits unless the practitioner engaged to conduct a performance audit is also engaged to conduct an AICPA direct engagement or issues such an examination, review, or specified procedures report.
Compliance With the Direct Engagement Attestation Standards Y.6 The "Compliance With Standards Rule" (AICPA, Professional Standards, ET sec. 1.310.001), of the AICPA Code of Professional Conduct requires members who perform professional services to comply with standards promulgated by bodies designated by the Council of the AICPA.
Relationship of Direct Engagement Standards to Quality Control Standards Y.7 Quality control systems, policies, and procedures are the responsibility of the firm in conducting its direct engagement attestation practice. Under QC section 10, A Firm's System of Quality Control (AICPA, Professional Standards), the firm has an obligation to establish and maintain a system of quality control to provide it with reasonable assurance that (Ref: par. .A4–.A6) a. the firm and its personnel comply with professional standards and applicable legal and regulatory requirements and b. practitioners' reports issued by the firm are appropriate in the circumstances.	Relationship of Direct Engagement Standards to Quality Control Standards (Ref: par. Y.7) Y.A4 The nature and extent of a firm's quality control policies and procedures depend on factors such as its size, the degree of operating autonomy allowed its personnel and its practice offices, the nature of its practice, its organization, and appropriate cost-benefit considerations. Y.A5 Within the context of the firm's system of quality control, engagement teams have a responsibility to implement quality control procedures that are applicable to the direct engagement and provide the firm with relevant information to enable the functioning of that part of the firm's quality control relating to independence.

Requirements	Application and Other Explanatory Material
Y.8 Direct engagement attestation standards relate to the conduct of individual direct engagements; quality control standards relate to the conduct of a firm’s attestation practice as a whole. Thus, direct engagement attestation standards and quality control standards are related, and the quality control policies and procedures that a firm adopts may affect both the conduct of individual direct engagements and the conduct of a firm’s attestation practice as a whole. However, deficiencies in or instances of noncompliance with a firm’s quality control policies and procedures do not, in and of themselves, indicate that a particular engagement was not performed in accordance with the direct engagement attestation standards.	Y.A6 Engagement teams are entitled to rely on the firm’s system of quality control, unless the engagement partner determines that it is inappropriate to do so based on information provided by the firm or other parties.
Objectives Y.9 In conducting a direct engagement, the overall objectives of the practitioner are to <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a. apply the requirements relevant to the direct engagement;</li> <li>b. report on the subject matter and communicate as required by the applicable AT-C section, in accordance with the results of the practitioner’s procedures; and</li> <li>c. implement quality control procedures at the engagement level that provide the practitioner with reasonable assurance that the direct engagement complies with professional standards and applicable legal and regulatory requirements.</li> </ul>
Definitions	Definitions
Y.10 For purposes of this proposed standard, the following terms have the meanings attributed as follows: Appropriateness of direct examination evidence. The measure of the quality of evidence, that is, its relevancy and reliability in providing support for the practitioner’s opinion.

Requirements	Application and Other Explanatory Material
Appropriateness of direct review evidence. The measure of the quality of review evidence, that is, its relevancy and reliability in providing support for the practitioner's conclusion. Assertion. Any declaration or set of declarations about whether the subject matter is in accordance with (or based on) the criteria. Attestation risk. In a direct examination or review engagement, the risk that the practitioner expresses an inappropriate opinion or conclusion, as applicable, when the subject matter is materially misstated. (Ref: par. .A7–.A12)	Attestation Risk (Ref: par. .Y.10) Y.A7 Attestation risk does not refer to the practitioner's business risks, such as loss from litigation, adverse publicity, or other events arising in connection with the subject matter reported on. Y.A8 In general, attestation risk can be represented by the following components, although not all of these components will necessarily be present or significant for all engagements: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a. Risks that the practitioner does not directly influence, which consist of <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>i. the susceptibility of the subject matter to a material misstatement before consideration of any related controls (inherent risk) and</li> <li>ii. the risk that a material misstatement that could occur in the subject matter will not be prevented, or detected and corrected, on a timely basis by the appropriate party(ies)'s internal control (control risk)</li> </ul> </li> <li>b. Risk that the practitioner does directly influence, which consists of the risk that the procedures to be performed by the practitioner will not detect a material misstatement (detection risk)</li> </ul> Y.A9 The degree to which each of these components of attestation risk is relevant to the engagement is affected by the engagement circumstances, in particular <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• the nature of the subject matter . (For example, the concept of control risk may be more useful when the subject matter relates to the preparation of information about an entity's performance than when it relates to information about the existence of a physical condition.)</li> </ul>

Requirements	Application and Other Explanatory Material
Criteria. The benchmarks used to measure or evaluate the subject matter. (Ref: par. Y.A13)	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• the type of engagement being performed. (For example, in a direct review engagement, the practitioner may often decide to obtain evidence by means other than tests of controls, in which case, consideration of control risk may be less relevant than in a direct examination engagement on the same subject matter.)</li> </ul> Y.A10 The consideration of risks is a matter of professional judgment, rather than a matter capable of precise measurement. Y.A11 In a direct examination engagement, the practitioner reduces attestation risk to an acceptably low level in the circumstances of the engagement as the basis for the practitioner’s opinion. Reducing attestation risk to zero is not contemplated in a direct examination engagement and, therefore, reasonable assurance is less than absolute assurance as a result of factors such as the following: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• The use of selective testing</li> <li>• The inherent limitations of internal control</li> <li>• The fact that much of the evidence available to the practitioner is persuasive, rather than conclusive</li> <li>• The use of professional judgment in gathering and evaluating evidence and forming conclusions based on that evidence</li> <li>• In some cases, the characteristics of the subject matter when evaluated or measured against the criteria</li> </ul> Y.A12 In a direct review engagement, attestation risk is greater than it is in a direct examination engagement. Because the practitioner obtains limited assurance in a direct review engagement, the types of procedures performed are less extensive than they are in a direct examination engagement and generally are limited to inquiries and analytical procedures. Criteria (Ref: par. Y.10) Y.A13 Suitable criteria are required for reasonably consistent measurement or evaluation of subject matter within the context of professional judgment. Without the frame of reference provided by suitable criteria, any conclusion is open to individual interpretation and misunderstanding. The suitability of

Requirements	Application and Other Explanatory Material
Direct engagement. A direct examination, review, or specified procedures engagement performed under the direct engagement standards related to subject matter that is the responsibility of another party. The following are the three types of direct engagements: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a. Direct examination engagement. A direct engagement in which the practitioner obtains reasonable assurance by obtaining sufficient appropriate evidence about the measurement or evaluation of subject matter against criteria in order to be able to draw reasonable conclusions on which to base the practitioner’s opinion about whether the subject matter is in accordance with (or based on) the criteria, in all material respects. (Ref: par. Y.A14)</li> <li>b. Direct review engagement. A direct engagement in which the practitioner obtains limited assurance by obtaining sufficient appropriate review evidence about the measurement or evaluation of subject matter against criteria in order to express a conclusion about whether any material modification should be made to the subject matter in order for it be in accordance with (or based on) the criteria. (Ref: par. Y.A15)</li> <li>c. Specified procedures engagement. A direct engagement in which a practitioner performs specific procedures on subject matter and reports the findings without providing</li> </ul>	criteria is context-sensitive, that is, it is determined in the context of the engagement circumstances. Even for the same subject matter, there can be different criteria, which will yield a different measurement or evaluation. For example, one responsible party might select the number of customer complaints resolved to the acknowledged satisfaction of the customer for the subject matter of customer satisfaction; another responsible party might select the number of repeat purchases in the three months following the initial purchase. Direct Examination Engagement (Ref: par. Y.10)  Y.A14 The practitioner obtains the same level of assurance in a direct examination engagement as the practitioner does in a financial statement audit. Direct Review Engagement (Ref: par. Y.10)  Y.A15 The practitioner obtains the same level of assurance in a direct review engagement as the practitioner does in a review of financial statements.

Requirements	Application and Other Explanatory Material
an opinion or a conclusion on it. The procedures may be developed and determined to be appropriate by the practitioner, the engaging party, or another party. No particular party is required to assume responsibility for the sufficiency of the procedures. Direct review evidence. Information used by the practitioner in obtaining limited assurance on which the practitioner’s direct review report is based. Documentation completion date. The date on which the practitioner has assembled for retention a complete and final set of documentation in the engagement file. Engagement circumstances. The broad context defining the particular engagement, which includes the terms of the engagement; whether it is a direct examination, review, or specified procedures engagement; the characteristics of the subject matter; the criteria; the information needs of the intended users; if applicable, the relevant characteristics of the responsible party and, if different, the engaging party and their environment; and other matters, for example, events, transactions, conditions and practices, and relevant laws and regulations, that may have a significant effect on the engagement. Engagement documentation. The record of procedures performed relevant evidence obtained, and, in a direct examination or review engagement, conclusions reached by the practitioner, or in a specified procedures engagement, findings of the practitioner. (Terms such as working papers or workpapers are also sometimes used). Engagement partner. The partner or other person in the firm who is responsible for the direct engagement and its performance and for the practitioner’s report that is issued on behalf of the firm and who, when required, has the appropriate authority from a professional, legal, or regulatory body. Engagement partner, partner, and firm refer to their governmental equivalents when relevant.

Requirements	Application and Other Explanatory Material
Engagement team. All partners and staff performing the engagement and any individuals engaged by the firm or a network firm who perform procedures on the engagement. This excludes a practitioner’s external specialist and engagement quality control reviewer engaged by the firm or a network firm. The term engagement team also excludes individuals within the client’s internal audit function who provide direct assistance. Engaging party. The party(ies) that engages the practitioner to perform the specified procedures engagement. (Ref: par. Y.A16) Evidence. Information used by the practitioner in arriving at the opinion, conclusion, or findings on which the practitioner’s report is based. Firm. A form of organization permitted by law or regulation whose characteristics conform to resolutions of the Council of the AICPA and that is engaged in the practice of public accounting. Fraud. An intentional act involving the use of deception that results in a misstatement in the subject matter. General use. Use of a practitioner’s report that is not restricted to specified parties. Internal audit function. A function of an entity that performs assurance and consulting activities designed to evaluate and improve the effectiveness of the entity’s governance, risk management, and internal control processes. Misstatement. An instance in which the subject matter does not conform with the criteria. Misstatements can be intentional or unintentional, qualitative or quantitative, and include omissions. In certain engagements, a misstatement may be referred to as a deviation, exception, or instance of noncompliance. Modified opinion. A qualified opinion, an adverse opinion, or a disclaimer of opinion. Network firm. A firm or other entity that belongs to a network, as defined in ET section 0.400, Definitions (AICPA, Professional Standards).	Engaging Party (Ref: par. Y.10) Y.A16 The engaging party, depending on the circumstances, may be management or those charged with governance of the responsible party, a governmental body or agency, the intended users, or another third party.

Requirements	Application and Other Explanatory Material
Noncompliance with laws or regulations. Acts of omission or commission by the entity, either intentional or unintentional, that are contrary to the prevailing laws or regulations. Such acts include transactions entered into by, or in the name of, the entity on its behalf by those charged with governance, management, or employees. Noncompliance does not include personal misconduct (unrelated to the subject matter) by those charged with governance, management, or employees of the entity. Other practitioner. An independent practitioner who is not a member of the engagement team who performs work on information that will be used as evidence by the practitioner performing the specified procedures engagement. An other practitioner may be part of the practitioner’s firm, a network firm, or another firm. Practitioner. The person or persons conducting the specified procedures engagement, usually the engagement partner or other members of the engagement team, or, as applicable, the firm. When this proposed standard expressly intends that a requirement or responsibility be fulfilled by the engagement partner, the term engagement partner, rather than practitioner, is used. Engagement partner and firm are to be read as referring to their governmental equivalents when relevant. Practitioner’s specialist. An individual or organization possessing expertise in a field other than accounting or direct engagement attestation, whose work in that field is used by the practitioner to assist the practitioner in obtaining evidence for the service being provided. A practitioner’s specialist may be either a practitioner’s internal specialist (who is a partner or staff, including temporary staff, of the practitioner’s firm or a network firm) or a practitioner’s external specialist. Partner and firm refer to their governmental equivalents when relevant. Professional judgment. The application of relevant training, knowledge, and experience, within the context provided by direct attestation and ethical standards in making informed

Requirements	Application and Other Explanatory Material
decisions about the courses of action that are appropriate in the circumstances of the direct attestation engagement. Professional skepticism. An attitude that includes a questioning mind, being alert to conditions that may indicate possible misstatement due to fraud or error, and a critical assessment of evidence. Reasonable assurance. A high, but not absolute, level of assurance. Report release date. The date on which the practitioner grants the engaging party permission to use the practitioner’s report. Responsible party. The party(ies) responsible for the subject matter. For purposes of [reference the specified procedures standard], the responsible party is the party that identifies the subject matter of the engagement. Specified party. The intended user(s) to whom use of the written practitioner’s report is limited. Subject matter. The phenomenon that is measured or established by applying criteria. Sufficiency of direct examination evidence. The measure of the quantity of direct examination evidence. The quantity of the direct examination evidence needed is affected by the risks of material misstatement and also by the quality of such evidence. Sufficiency of direct review evidence. The measure of the quantity of direct review evidence. The quantity of the direct review evidence needed is affected by the risks of material misstatement and also by the quality of such evidence. Test of controls. A procedure designed to evaluate the operating effectiveness of controls in preventing, or detecting and correcting, material misstatements in the subject matter. Y.11 For the purposes of the attestation standards, references to appropriate party(ies) should be read hereafter as the responsible party or the engaging party, as appropriate. (Ref: par. Y.A17)	Appropriate Party(ies) (Ref: par. Y.11) Y.A17 Management and governance structures vary by entity, reflecting influences such as size and ownership characteristics. Such diversity means that it is not possible for the direct engagement attestation standards to specify for all engagements the person(s) with whom the practitioner is to interact regarding particular matters. For example, an entity may be a segment of an organization and not a separate legal entity. In such cases, identifying the appropriate management personnel or those charged with governance with whom to communicate may require the exercise of professional judgment.

Requirements
Conduct of a Direct Engagement in Accordance With the Direct Engagement Standards Complying With AT-C Sections That Are Relevant to the Engagement Y.12 When performing a direct attestation engagement, the practitioner should comply with <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• this section; and</li> <li>• sections Z (on direct examination and review engagements) or X (on specified procedures engagements), as applicable.</li> </ul> Y.13 The practitioner should not represent compliance with this section unless the practitioner has complied with the relevant requirements of this section. Y.14 Reports issued by a practitioner in connection with services performed under other professional standards should be written to be clearly distinguishable from and not confused with reports issued under the direct engagement standards. (Ref: par. Y.A18–Y.A19) Text of an AT-C Section Y.15 The practitioner should have an understanding of the entire text of each AT-C section that is relevant to the engagement being performed, including its application and other explanatory material,	Conduct of a Direct Engagement in Accordance With the Direct Engagement Standards Complying With AT-C Sections That Are Relevant to the Engagement (Ref: par. Y.14) Y.A18 A practitioner’s report that merely excludes the phrase “was conducted in accordance with attestation standards established by the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants” but is otherwise similar to a practitioner’s direct examination, direct review, or specified procedures report is an example of a practitioner’s report that is not clearly distinguishable from, and could be confused with, a report issued under the direct engagement attestation standards. Y.A19 Paragraph Y.14 does not prohibit combining reports issued by a practitioner under the attestation standards with reports issued under other professional standards. Text of an AT-C Section (Ref: par. Y.15) Y.A20 The AT-C sections contain the objectives of the practitioner and requirements designed to enable the practitioner to meet those objectives. In addition, they contain related guidance in the form of application and other explanatory material, introductory material that provides context relevant to a proper understanding of the section, and definitions.

Requirements	Application and Other Explanatory Material
to understand its objectives and apply its requirements properly. (Ref: par. .A20–.A25)	Y.A21 Introductory material may include, as needed, such matters as an explanation of the following: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• The purpose and scope of the AT-C section, including how the AT-C section relates to other AT-C sections</li> <li>• The subject matter of the AT-C section</li> <li>• The respective responsibilities of the practitioner and others regarding the subject matter of the AT-C section</li> <li>• The context in which the AT-C section is set</li> </ul> Y.A22 The application and other explanatory material provides further explanation of the requirements of an AT-C section and guidance for carrying them out. In particular, it may <ol style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a. explain more precisely what a requirement means or is intended to cover and</li> <li>b. include examples of procedures that may be appropriate in the circumstances.</li> </ol> Although such guidance does not, in itself, impose a requirement, it may explain the proper application of the requirements of an AT-C section. The application and other explanatory material may also provide background information on matters addressed in an AT-C section. They do not, however, limit or reduce the responsibility of the practitioner to apply and comply with the requirements in applicable AT-C sections. Y.A23 The practitioner is required by paragraph Y.15 to understand the application and other explanatory material. How the practitioner applies the guidance in the engagement depends on the exercise of professional judgment in the circumstances consistent with the objective of the section. The words may, might, and could are used to describe these actions and procedures. Y.A24 An AT-C section may include, in a separate section under the heading “Definition(s),” a description of the meanings attributed to certain terms for purposes of the AT-C section. These are provided to assist in the consistent application and interpretation of the AT-C section and are not intended to override definitions that may be established for other purposes,

Requirements	Application and Other Explanatory Material
Complying With Relevant Requirements Y.16 Subject to paragraph .20, the practitioner should comply with each requirement of the AT-C sections that is relevant to the direct engagement being performed, unless, in the circumstances of the engagement, <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a. the entire AT-C section is not relevant, or</li> <li>b. the requirement is not relevant because it is conditional, and the condition does not exist.</li> </ul> Y.17 When a practitioner undertakes a direct attestation engagement for the benefit of a government body or agency and agrees to follow specified government standards, guides, procedures, statutes, rules, and regulations, the practitioner should comply with those governmental requirements as well as the applicable AT-C sections. (Ref: par. Y.A26) Practitioner’s Report Prescribed by Law or Regulation Y.18 If the practitioner is required by law or regulation to use a specific layout, form, or wording of the practitioner’s report and the prescribed form of report is not acceptable or would cause a practitioner to make a statement that the practitioner has no basis to make, the practitioner should reword the prescribed form of report or attach an appropriately worded separate practitioner’s report. (Ref: par. Y.A27)	whether in law, regulation, or otherwise. Unless otherwise indicated, those terms will carry the same meanings in all AT-C sections. Y.A25 Appendixes form part of the application and other explanatory material. The purpose and intended use of an appendix are explained in the body of the related AT-C section or within the title and introduction of the appendix itself. Complying With Relevant Requirements (Ref: par. Y.17) Y.A26 In certain attestation engagements, the practitioner also may be required to comply with other requirements in addition to the attestation standards. The attestation standards do not override law or regulation that governs the attestation engagement. In the event that such law or regulation differs from attestation standards, an attestation engagement conducted only in accordance with law or regulation will not necessarily comply with the attestation standards. Practitioner’s Report Prescribed by Law or Regulation (Ref: par. Y.18) Y.A27 Some report forms can be made acceptable by inserting additional wording to include the elements required by sections [insert sections for Direct Engagements and Specified Procedures]. Some report forms required by law or regulation can be made acceptable only by complete revision because the prescribed language of the practitioner’s report calls for statements by the practitioner that are not consistent with the practitioner’s function or responsibility, for example, a report form that requests the practitioner to “certify” the subject matter.

Requirements	Application and Other Explanatory Material
Defining Professional Requirements in the Direct Engagement Standards Y.19 The direct engagement standards use the following two categories of professional requirements, identified by specific terms, to describe the degree of responsibility it imposes on practitioners: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Unconditional requirements. The practitioner must comply with an unconditional requirement in all cases in which such requirement is relevant. The direct engagement standards use the word must to indicate an unconditional requirement.</li> <li>• Presumptively mandatory requirements. The practitioner must comply with a presumptively mandatory requirement in all cases in which such a requirement is relevant, except in rare circumstances discussed in paragraph .20. The direct engagement standards use the word should to indicate a presumptively mandatory requirement.</li> </ul> Departure From a Relevant Requirement Y.20 In rare circumstances, the practitioner may judge it necessary to depart from a relevant presumptively mandatory requirement. In such circumstances, the practitioner should perform alternative procedures to achieve the intent of that requirement. The need for the practitioner to depart from a relevant, presumptively mandatory requirement is expected to arise only when the requirement is for a specific procedure to be performed and, in the specific circumstances of the engagement, that procedure would be ineffective in achieving the intent of the requirement. (Ref: par. Y.A28) Interpretive Publications Y.21 The practitioner should consider applicable interpretive publications in planning and performing the direct engagement. (Ref: par. Y.A29)	Departure From a Relevant Requirement (Ref: par. Y.20) Y.A28 Paragraph Y.47 prescribes documentation requirements when the circumstances described in paragraph Y.20 occur. Interpretive Publications (Ref: par. Y.21) Y.A29 Interpretive publications are not attestation standards. Interpretive publications are recommendations on the application of the attestation standards in specific circumstances, including engagements for entities in specialized industries. An interpretive publication is issued under the authority of the relevant senior technical committee after all members of the committee have been provided an opportunity to consider and comment on whether the proposed interpretive publication is consistent with the attestation standards. Examples of interpretive publications are

Other Direct Engagement Publications Y.22 In applying the guidance included in an other direct engagement publication, the practitioner should, exercising professional judgment, assess the relevance and appropriateness of such guidance to the circumstances of the direct engagement. (Ref: par. Y.A30–Y.A32)	interpretations of the attestation standards, exhibits to the AT-C sections, and attestation guidance included in AICPA guides and attestation Statements of Position (SOPs). Interpretations of the AT-C sections and exhibits are included within the AT-C sections in AICPA Professional Standards. AICPA guides and attestation SOPs are listed in AT-C appendix A, “AICPA Guides and Statements of Position,” of AICPA Professional Standards. Other Direct Engagement Publications (Ref: par. Y.22) Y.A30 Other attestation publications have no authoritative status; however, they may help the practitioner understand and apply this proposed standard. The practitioner is not expected to be aware of the full body of other attestation publications. Y.A31 Although the practitioner determines the relevance of these publications in accordance with paragraph X.19, the practitioner may presume that other attestation publications published by the AICPA that have been reviewed by the AICPA Audit and Attest Standards staff are appropriate. Y.A32 When determining whether an other attestation publication that has not been reviewed by the AICPA Audit and Attest Standards staff is appropriate to the circumstances of the engagement, the accountant may wish to consider the degree to which the publication is recognized as being helpful in understanding and applying this proposed standard and the degree to which the issuer or author is recognized as an authority in matters addressing attestation engagements. An other attestation publication that has not been reviewed by the AICPA Audit and Attest Standards staff that contradicts an other attestation publication that has been reviewed by the AICPA Audit and Attest Standards staff is inappropriate.

Y.24 A practitioner must be independent when performing a direct engagement unless the practitioner is required by law or regulation to accept the engagement and report on the subject matter. When the practitioner is not independent but is required by law or regulation to accept a specified procedures engagement and report on the procedures performed and findings obtained, the practitioner's report should specifically state that the practitioner is not independent. The practitioner is neither required to provide, nor precluded from providing, the reasons for the lack of independence; however, if the practitioner chooses to provide the reasons for the lack of independence, the practitioner should include all the reasons therefor. Y.25 The practitioner should comply with relevant ethical requirements. (Ref: par. X.A33 – X.A36)	Y.A33 Ethical requirements consist of those contained in the AICPA Code of Professional Conduct, together with rules of state boards of accountancy and applicable regulatory agencies that are more restrictive. Y.A34 The AICPA Code of Professional Conduct establishes the fundamental principles of professional ethics, which include the following: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Responsibilities</li> <li>• The public interest</li> <li>• Integrity</li> <li>• Objectivity and independence</li> <li>• Due care</li> <li>• Scope and nature of services</li> </ul> Y.A35 Due care requires the practitioner to discharge professional responsibilities with competence and have the appropriate capabilities to perform the engagement and enable an appropriate practitioner's report to be issued. Y.A36 QC section 10, A Firm's System of Quality Control, sets out the firm's responsibilities to establish and maintain its system of quality control

Preconditions for a Direct Engagement	Preconditions for a Direct Engagement (Ref: par. Y.26)
Y.26 In order to establish that the preconditions for a direct engagement are present, the practitioner should determine both of the following: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a. The responsible party is a party other than the practitioner.</li> <li>b. The engagement exhibits all of the following characteristics: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>i. The subject matter is appropriate. (Ref: par. .A37–.A43)</li> </ul> </li> </ul>	Appropriateness of Subject Matter (Ref: par. Y.25b[i]) Y.A37 An element of the appropriateness of subject matter is the existence of a reasonable basis for measuring or evaluating the subject matter. The responsible party in an attestation engagement is responsible for having a reasonable basis for measuring or evaluating the subject matter. What constitutes a reasonable basis will depend on the nature of the subject matter and other engagement circumstances. In some cases, a formal process with extensive internal controls may be needed to provide the responsible party with a reasonable basis for concluding that the measurement or evaluation of the subject matter is free from material misstatement. The fact that the practitioner will report on the subject matter is not a substitute for the responsible party’s own processes to have a reasonable basis for measuring or evaluating the subject matter. Y.A38 An appropriate subject matter <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a. is identifiable and capable of consistent measurement or evaluation against the criteria and</li> <li>b. can be subjected to procedures for obtaining sufficient appropriate evidence to support an opinion, conclusion, or findings, as appropriate.</li> </ul> Y.A39 If the subject matter is not appropriate for an direct examination engagement, it also is not appropriate for a direct review engagement. Y.A40 Different subject matters have different characteristics, including the degree to which information about them is qualitative versus quantitative,

	objective versus subjective, historical versus prospective, and relates to a point in time or covers a period. Such characteristics affect the following: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a. Precision with which the subject matter can be measured or evaluated against criteria</li> <li>b. The persuasiveness of available evidence</li> </ol> Y.A41 Identifying such characteristics and considering their effects assists the practitioner when assessing the appropriateness of the subject matter and also in determining the content of the practitioner’s report. Y.A42 In some cases, the attestation engagement may relate to only one part of a broader subject matter. For example, the practitioner may be engaged to examine one aspect of an entity’s contribution to sustainable development, such as the programs run by the entity that have positive environmental outcomes, and may be aware that the practitioner has not been engaged to examine more significant programs with less favorable outcomes. In such cases, in determining whether the engagement exhibits the characteristic of having an appropriate subject matter, it may be appropriate for the practitioner to consider whether information about the aspect that the practitioner is asked to examine is likely to meet the information needs of intended users. Determining Whether to Perform an Attestation Engagement Under the Direct Engagements Attestation Standards Y.A43 Most engagements performed under the assertion-based attestation standards may also be performed under the direct engagements attestation standards. However, factors such as the following are relevant to the practitioner’s decision about whether to perform the engagement under the direct engagements attestation standards: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Law or regulation may require that the engagement be performed under the assertion based attestation standards</li> <li>• The subject matter is internal control based on the COSO criteria. Criteria are complete when subject matter prepared in accordance with them does not omit relevant factors that could reasonably be expected to affect decisions of the intended users made on the basis of that subject matter. The relative importance of each characteristic to a particular engagement is a matter of professional judgment.</li> </ul> Y.A45 Criteria can be developed in a variety of ways, for example, they may be <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• embodied in laws or regulations.</li> <li>• issued by authorized or recognized bodies of experts that follow a transparent due process.</li> <li>• developed collectively by a group that does not follow a transparent due process.</li> <li>• published in scholarly journals or books.</li> <li>• developed for sale on a proprietary basis.</li> <li>• specifically designed for the purpose of measuring, evaluating, or disclosing the subject matter in the particular circumstances of the engagement.</li> </ul> How criteria are developed may affect the work that the practitioner carries out to assess their suitability.

Requirements	Application and Other Explanatory Material
	Y.A46 Criteria that are established or developed by groups composed of experts that follow due process procedures, including exposure of the proposed criteria for public comment, are ordinarily considered suitable. Criteria promulgated by a body designated by the Council of the AICPA under the AICPA Code of Professional Conduct are, by definition, considered to be suitable. Y.A47 In some cases, laws or regulations prescribe the criteria to be used for the engagement. In the absence of indications to the contrary, such criteria are presumed to be suitable. Y.A48 Criteria may be established or developed by the engaging party, the responsible party, industry associations, or other groups that do not follow due process procedures or do not as clearly represent the public interest. The practitioner’s determination of whether such criteria are suitable is based on the characteristics described in paragraph Y.A45. Y.A49 Regardless of who establishes or develops the criteria, the responsible party or the engaging party is responsible for selecting the criteria (unless an outside party specifies the criteria such as an industry group) and the engaging party is responsible for determining that such criteria are appropriate for its purposes. Y.A50 Some criteria may be suitable for only a limited number of parties who either participated in their establishment or can be presumed to have an adequate understanding of the criteria. For example, criteria set forth in a lease agreement for override payments may be suitable only for reporting to the parties to the agreement because of the likelihood that such criteria would be misunderstood or misinterpreted by parties other than those who have specifically agreed to the criteria. Such criteria can be agreed upon directly by the parties or through a designated representative. Y.A51 Even when established criteria exist for a subject matter, specific users may agree to other criteria for their specific purposes. For example, various frameworks can be used as established criteria for evaluating the effectiveness of internal control. Specific users may, however, develop a more detailed set of criteria that meet their specific information needs. Y.A52 If criteria are specifically designed for the purpose of measuring, evaluating, or disclosing the subject matter in the particular circumstances

It is desirable for the intended users or the engaging party to acknowledge that specifically developed criteria are suitable for the intended users’ purposes. The absence of such an acknowledgement may affect what is to be done to assess the suitability of the criteria and the information provided about the criteria in the report. Y.A53 Criteria need to be available to the intended users to allow them to understand how the subject matter has been measured or evaluated. Criteria are made available to the intended users in one or more of the following ways: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a. Publicly</li> <li>b. Through inclusion in a clear manner in the presentation of the subject matter</li> <li>c. Through inclusion in a clear manner in the practitioner’s report</li> <li>d. Y.25b[iii]) Y.A55 The nature of the relationship between the responsible party and, if different, the engaging party, may affect the practitioner’s ability to access records, documentation, and other information the practitioner may require as evidence to arrive at the practitioner’s opinion, conclusion, or findings. Therefore, the nature of that relationship may be a relevant consideration when determining whether or not to accept the engagement. Y.A56 The quantity or quality of available evidence is affected by both of the following:

The report should not include reference to (a) the original engagement, (b) any procedures that may have been performed, or (c) scope limitations that resulted in the changed engagement	Y.A57 A change in circumstances that affects the requirements of the responsible party or, if different, the engaging party, or a misunderstanding concerning the nature of the engagement originally requested, may be considered reasonable justification for requesting a change in the engagement, for example, from an attestation engagement to a consulting engagement or from a direct examination engagement to a direct review engagement. A change may not be considered reasonable if it appears that the change relates to information that is incorrect, incomplete, or otherwise unsatisfactory. An example of such a circumstance is a request to change the engagement from a direct examination to a direct review to avoid a modified opinion or a disclaimer of opinion in a situation in which the practitioner is unable to obtain sufficient appropriate evidence regarding the subject matter. Y.A58 If the practitioner and the engaging party are unable to agree to a change in the terms of the engagement and the practitioner is not permitted to continue the original engagement, the practitioner may withdraw from the engagement when possible under applicable laws and regulations. Acceptance of a Change From an Assertion Based Engagement to a Direct Engagement Y.A59 After being engaged to perform an attestation engagement under the assertion-based attestation standards, the responsible party might request that the practitioner change the engagement to a direct engagement. The practitioner should adopt reasonable procedures to retain engagement documentation for a period of time sufficient to meet the needs of the practitioner and to satisfy any applicable legal or regulatory requirements for records retention. Y.45 Because engagement documentation often contains confidential information, the practitioner should adopt reasonable procedures to maintain the confidentiality of that information. Y.46 The practitioner also should adopt reasonable procedures to prevent unauthorized access to engagement documentation. Y.47 If, in rare circumstances, the practitioner judges it necessary to depart from a relevant, presumptively mandatory requirement, the practitioner should document the justification for the departure and how the alternative procedures performed in the circumstances were sufficient to achieve the intent of that requirement. (See paragraph Y.20.)	Y.A77 The completion of the assembly of the final engagement file is an administrative process that does not involve the performance of new procedures or the drawing of new conclusions. Changes may, however, be made to the documentation during the final assembly process if they are administrative in nature. Examples of such changes include the following: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Deleting or discarding superseded documentation</li> <li>• Sorting, collating, and cross-referencing working papers</li> <li>• Signing off on completion checklists relating to the file assembly process</li> <li>• Documenting evidence that the practitioner has obtained, discussed, and agreed with the relevant members of the engagement team before the date of the practitioner’s report</li> <li>• Adding information received after the date of the report, for example, an original confirmation that was previously faxed.</li> </ul>
