X.7 The practitioner should comply with relevant ethical requirements. (Ref: par. Professional Judgment X.8 The practitioner should exercise professional judgment in the performance of the engagement in accordance with this section. (Ref: par. X. A8-X. ³ Paragraphs .21-.25 of QC section 10.

Requirements	Application and Other Explanatory Material
	X. A9 The distinguishing feature of the professional judgment expected of the practitioner is that it is exercised by a practitioner whose training, knowledge, and experience have assisted in developing the necessary competencies to achieve reasonable judgments and make informed decisions about appropriate courses of action when undertaking an engagement in accordance with this section. Consultation on difficult or contentious matters during the course of the engagement, both within the engagement team and between the engagement team and others at the appropriate level within or outside the firm, assists the practitioner in making informed and reasonable judgments. X. A10 The exercise of professional judgment in individual engagements is based on the facts and circumstances that are known by the practitioner throughout the engagement. X. A11 Professional judgment can be evaluated based on whether the judgment reached reflects a competent application of this section and is appropriate in light of, and consistent with, the facts and circumstances that were known to the practitioner up to the date of the practitioner’s specified procedures report. X. A12 Professional judgment needs to be exercised throughout the engagement performed in accordance with this section. It also needs to be appropriately documented in accordance with the requirements of this section. Professional judgment is not to be used as the justification for decisions that are not otherwise supported by the facts and circumstances of the engagement or the evidence obtained.
Conduct of a Specified Procedures Engagement X.9 In performing a specified procedures engagement, the practitioner should comply with this section.
Preconditions for a Specified Procedures Engagement X.10 A practitioner must be independent when performing an attestation engagement in accordance with the attestation standards unless the practitioner is required by law or regulation to accept the engagement and report on the subject matter or assertion. The practitioner is neither required to provide, nor precluded from providing, the reasons for the lack of independence; however, if the practitioner chooses to provide the reasons for the lack of independence, the practitioner should include all the reasons therefor. X.11 In order to establish that the preconditions for a specified procedures engagement are present, the practitioner should determine that the following conditions, are present: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> a. The practitioner believes that procedures can be performed in order to accomplish the objectives of the engagement that will not be misleading to potential users of the practitioner's specified procedures report. b. The practitioner believes that procedures can be performed and reported on in accordance with this section. c. The procedures to be applied to the subject matter are expected to result in reasonably consistent findings using the criteria.
Agreeing on the Terms of the Engagement X.12 The practitioner should agree upon the terms of the engagement with the engaging party. The agreed-upon terms of the engagement should be specified in sufficient detail in an engagement letter or other suitable form of written agreement. (Ref: par. X.A13-X.A14)	Agreeing on the Terms of the Engagement (Ref: par. X.12-X.13, X.15 and X.21) X.A13 It is in the interests of both the engaging party and the practitioner to document the agreed-upon terms of the engagement before the commencement of the engagement to help avoid misunderstandings. For example, it reduces the risk that the engaging party may inappropriately rely on or expect the practitioner to protect the engaging party against certain risks or perform certain functions, including those that are the engaging party's responsibility. The form and content of the engagement letter or other suitable form of written agreement will vary with the engagement circumstances. X.A14 A contract is another suitable form of written communication. X.13 The agreed-upon terms of the engagement should include the following: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> a. The objectives of the engagement b. Identification of the subject matter, the engaging party, and the criteria to be used (Ref: par. X.A15) c. The nature of the expected specified procedures (Ref: par. X.A16) d. X.A17-X.A18) 	X.A15 The criteria may be indicated in the procedures as opposed to described separately. X.A16 The nature of a specified procedures engagement is such that the procedures may change during the course of the engagement. The engaging party and the practitioner may not know the necessary procedures at the onset of the engagement and therefore, the terms of the engagement need only include the objective and nature of the expected procedures and not the actual procedures. X.A17 In addition to being responsible for the subject matter, the responsibilities of the engaging party may also include <ul style="list-style-type: none"> a. Such acknowledgement may be included in the engagement letter, in a representation letter, or some other communication. X.A19 The responsibility of the practitioner is to carry out the procedures and report the findings in accordance with the attestation standards. The practitioner assumes the risk that misapplication of the procedures may result in inappropriate findings being reported. Furthermore, the practitioner assumes the risk that appropriate findings may not be reported or may be reported inaccurately. The practitioner's risks can be reduced through adequate planning and supervision and due professional care in performing the procedures, accumulating the findings, and preparing the practitioner's report. X.A20 The practitioner has no responsibility to determine the differences between the specified procedures to be performed and the procedures that the practitioner would have determined to be necessary had the practitioner been engaged to perform another form of attestation engagement. The procedures that the practitioner performs pursuant to a specified procedures engagement may be more or less extensive than the procedures that the practitioner would determine to be necessary had the practitioner been engaged to perform another form of engagement.

X.16 The practitioner should utilize professional judgment in making a determination as to whether the specified procedures are sufficiently precise and clear.
