“Selected Procedures Engagements”

Requirements	Application and Other Explanatory Material
Introduction X.1 This proposed standard applies to engagements in which a CPA in the practice of public accounting is engaged to issue, or does issue, a practitioner’s selected procedures report. In a selected procedures engagement, the practitioner determines the procedures to be performed, performs such procedures, and issues a report on procedures performed and related findings. In a selected procedures engagement, the practitioner does not perform an examination or a review and does not provide an opinion or conclusion. In addition, a selected procedures engagement is not an agreed-upon procedures engagement. The selected procedures report may be intended for a broad range of users and is not required to be restricted as to use. (Ref: par. X.A1-.X.A4)	Introduction (Ref: par. X.1) X.A1 An agreed-upon procedures engagement is one in which a practitioner is engaged to issue, or does issue a practitioner’s report of findings based on specific agreed-upon procedures applied to subject matter for use by specified parties. AT-C section 215, Agreed-Upon Procedures Engagements contains performance and reporting requirements and application guidance for all agreed-upon procedures engagements. X.A2 The fundamental differences between a selected procedures engagement and an agreed-upon procedures engagement are <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • An agreed-upon procedures engagement is predicated on the concept that a party other than the practitioner makes an assertion about whether the subject matter is measured or evaluated in accordance with suitable criteria. A selected procedures engagement does not contemplate the practitioner requesting or obtain an assertion from any party. • An agreed-upon procedures engagement requires the practitioner to request certain written representations from the responsible party. In a selected procedures engagement, written representations are not required. • In an agreed-upon procedures engagement, the use of the practitioner’s report is required to be restricted to the specified parties. There is no such requirement to restrict the use of the practitioner’s report in a selected procedures engagement. X.A3 Nothing in this standard is intended to preclude a practitioner from performing a selected procedures engagement and an agreed-upon procedures engagement on the same subject matter.

Requirements	Application and Other Explanatory Material
Scope of This Standard X.2 When a practitioner performs services pursuant to an engagement to issue a practitioner’s selected procedures report on subject matter as part of or in addition to another form of service, this proposed standard applies only to those services described herein; other professional standards would apply to the other services. (Ref: par. X.A5)	X.A4 Individual users of the selected procedures report would make their own determination as to how the report is to be used and relied upon based on the procedures performed and the results obtained. Scope of This Standard (Ref: par. X.2) X.A5 Another form of service may include an audit, review, compilation, or preparation of financial statements; an examination, review, or agreed-upon procedures engagement performed pursuant to the attestation standards; or a nonattest service other than financial statement preparation such as engagements performed in accordance with Statement on Standards for Consulting Services. A practitioner’s selected procedures report may be combined with a practitioner’s report on such other services, provided the types of services can be clearly distinguished and the applicable standards for each service are followed.
Objectives X.3 In conducting a selected procedures engagement, the objectives of the practitioner are to <ul style="list-style-type: none"> a. determine procedures to meet the overall objective of the engagement; b. apply the procedures to the subject matter that the practitioner determined to be appropriate; and b. issue a written practitioner’s report that describes the procedures applied and the practitioner’s findings.
Requirements
Conduct of a Selected procedures Engagement X.4 In performing a selected procedures engagement, the practitioner should comply with this section and [reference to Common Concepts section].
Preconditions for a Selected procedures Engagement X.5 Paragraph Y.24 of [reference to Common Concepts section] indicates that a practitioner must be independent when performing a

direct engagement in accordance with the direct engagement standards unless the practitioner is required by law or regulation to accept the engagement and report on the subject matter. When the practitioner is not independent but is required by law or regulation to accept a selected procedures engagement and report on the subject matter, the practitioner's report should specifically state that the practitioner is not independent. The practitioner is neither required to provide, nor precluded from providing, the reasons for the lack of independence; however, if the practitioner chooses to provide the reasons for the lack of independence, the practitioner should include all the reasons therefor.
Agreeing on the Terms of the Engagement X.6 The practitioner should agree upon the terms of the engagement with the engaging party. The agreed-upon terms of the engagement should be specified in sufficient detail in an engagement letter or other suitable form of written agreement. (Ref: par. X.A6-X.A7)	Agreeing on the Terms of the Engagement (Ref: par. X.6-X.7, and X.10) X.A6 An oral understanding of the terms of the engagement is not sufficient. An engagement letter is the most common and usually the most convenient method for documenting the understanding with management regarding the services to be performed for a selected procedures engagement. X.A7 It is in the interests of both the engaging party and the practitioner to document the agreed-upon terms of the engagement before the commencement of the engagement to help avoid misunderstandings. For example, it reduces the risk that the engaging party may inappropriately rely on or expect the practitioner to protect the engaging party against certain risks or perform certain functions, including those that are the engaging party's responsibility. The form and content of the engagement letter or other suitable form of written agreement may vary with the engagement circumstances.
X.7 The agreed-upon terms of the engagement should include the following: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> a. The objectives of the engagement b. Identification of the engaging party c. Identification of the subject matter and the criteria to be used (Ref: par. X.A8) 	X.A8 The criteria may be indicated in the procedures as opposed to described separately.

Requirements	Application and Other Explanatory Material
d. The nature of the expected selected procedures (Ref: par. X.A9) e. The responsibilities of the engaging partyselected procedures (Ref: par. X.A10) f. The responsibilities of the practitioner (Ref: par. X.A11-X.A12)	X.A9 The nature of a selected procedures engagement is such that the procedures may evolve or be modified during the course of the engagement. The necessary procedures may not be finalized at the onset of the engagement and therefore, the terms of the engagement need only include the nature of the expected procedures and not the actual procedures. If the actual procedures are known at the onset of the engagement, the agreed-upon terms of the engagement may include the actual procedures to be performed. X.A10 The responsibilities of the engaging party may include <ol style="list-style-type: none"> a. The subject matter b. selected proceduresThe prevention and detection of fraud c. Ensuring that the entity complies with laws and regulations applicable to its activities d. The accuracy and completeness of the records, documents, explanations, and other information, including significant judgments, the engaging party provides the practitioner for the engagement e. Providing the practitioner with <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Access to all information of which the engaging party is aware that is relevant to the engagement, such as records, documents, and other matters • Additional information that the practitioner may request from the engaging party for the purpose of the selected procedures engagement • Unrestricted access to persons of whom the practitioner determines it necessary to make inquiries

Requirements	Application and Other Explanatory Material
	X.A11 The responsibility of the practitioner is to carry out the procedures and report the findings in accordance with the attestation standards. The practitioner assumes the risk that misapplication of the procedures may result in inappropriate findings being reported. Furthermore, the practitioner assumes the risk that appropriate findings may not be reported or may be reported inaccurately. The practitioner's risks can be reduced through adequate planning and supervision and due professional care in performing the procedures, accumulating the findings, and preparing the practitioner's report. X.A12 The practitioner has no responsibility to determine the differences between the selected procedures to be performed and the procedures that the practitioner would have determined to be necessary had the practitioner been engaged to perform another form of attestation engagement. The procedures that the practitioner performs pursuant to a selected procedures engagement may be more or less extensive than the procedures that the practitioner would determine to be necessary had the practitioner been engaged to perform another form of engagement.
g. The limitations of a selected procedures engagement, including a statement that the procedures performed may not address all of the items of interest to a user and may not meet the needs of all users. (Ref: par. X.A13-X.A14) h. A statement that the engagement will be conducted in accordance with attestation standards established by the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants i. Assistance to be provided to the practitioner j. Involvement of an external specialist, if applicable	X.A13 The limitations of a selected procedures engagement include instances in which the source data may be not be complete or accurate, the user may infer a level of assurance from the procedures performed and findings, and procedures or findings may not be appropriate for general use. Such instances include procedures or findings that: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • may not be understood by a general audience, • may be associated with laws or regulations, or • contain non-public personally identifiable information (PII) or sensitive personal information (SPI). X.A14 The practitioner may, in connection with establishing the terms of the engagement, reach an understanding with the entity that the intended use of the practitioner's selected procedures report will be restricted. The practitioner may also obtain the entity's written agreement that the entity and any specified parties will not distribute the practitioner's selected procedures report to parties other than the specified parties.

Requirements	Application and Other Explanatory Material
k. Materiality limits, if applicable (Ref: par. X.A15)	X.A15 The practitioner has no responsibility to agree upon with, or otherwise obtain from, the engaging party specified materiality limits. The requirement to include materiality limits in the terms of the engagement is applicable only when the practitioner is aware of, or establishes, such materiality limits at the onset of the engagement, for example, that exceptions will not be reported for differences less than $1,000 that are due to rounding. Materiality limits may be obtained from, or agreed upon by, the engaging party after agreement on the terms of the engagement.
X.8 The engagement letter or other suitable form of written agreement should be addressed to the engaging party and should be signed by a. The practitioner or the practitioner’s firm and b. The engaging party
Procedures to be Performed X.9 Obtain the engaging party’s written acknowledgment of the procedures to be performed. (Ref: par. X.A16) X.10 The practitioner should perform selected procedures that are intended to meet the objectives of the engagement. (Ref: par. X.A9 and X) X.11 The procedures performed pursuant to paragraph X.10 should specify the nature, timing, and extent of the procedures. (Ref: par. X.A17–.A21)	Procedures to be Performed (Ref: par. X.9-10) X.A16 The engaging party’s written acknowledgement of the procedures to be performed may be included in the engagement letter, an amendment to the engagement letter, in a representation letter, or some other written communication. X.A17 The procedures to be performed may be as limited or as extensive as determined to be appropriate to meet the objectives of the engagement. However, mere reading of specified information about the subject matter does not constitute a procedure sufficient to permit a practitioner to report on the results of selected procedures. X.A18 Examples of appropriate procedures include the following: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Execution of a sampling application in accordance with relevant parameters • Inspection of specified documents evidencing certain types of

	transactions or detailed attributes thereof <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Confirmation of specific information with third parties • Comparison of documents, schedules, or analyses with certain specified attributes • Performance of specific procedures on work performed by others • Performance of mathematical computations X.A19 Examples of inappropriate procedures include the following: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Mere reading of the work performed by others solely to describe their findings • Evaluating the competency or objectivity of another party • Obtaining an understanding about a particular subject • Interpreting documents outside the scope of the practitioner's professional expertise X.A20 If the practitioner is selecting a sample, stating the size of the sample and how the selection was made contributes to the specificity of the description of procedures performed (for example, 50 items starting at the eighth item and selecting every fifteenth item thereafter or invoices issued from May 1 to July 31, 20XX). X.A21 Examples of other information the practitioner may include are the date the procedure was performed and the sources of information used in performing the procedure.

Requirements	Application and Other Explanatory Material
X.12 The practitioner should utilize professional judgment in making a determination as to whether the selected procedures are sufficiently precise and clear. The practitioner should not perform procedures that are open to varying interpretations or that use vague or ambiguous language. Terms of uncertain meaning (such as general review, limited review, check, or test) should not be used in describing the procedures. (Ref: par. X.A22)	X.A22 To avoid vague or ambiguous language, the procedures to be performed are characterized by the action to be taken at a level of specificity sufficient for a reader to understand the nature and extent of the procedures performed. Examples of acceptable descriptions of actions are the following: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Inspect • Compare • Agree • Trace • Inquire • Recalculate • Observe • Mathematically check Conversely, the following descriptions of actions (unless defined to indicate the nature, timing, and extent of the procedures associated with these actions) generally are not acceptable because they are not sufficiently precise or may have an uncertain meaning: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Note • Review • Evaluate • Analyze • Interpret • Verify • Examine • Validate

X.13 The practitioner should obtain evidence from applying the selected procedures to provide a reasonable basis for the finding or findings expressed in the practitioner’s report but need not perform additional procedures outside of the objectives of the engagement to gather additional evidence.
Using the Work of a Practitioner’s External Specialist	Using the Work of a Practitioner’s External Specialist (Ref: par. X.14)
X.14 If a practitioner’s external specialist is engaged to assist the practitioner in performing a selected procedures engagement, the practitioner’s report should describe the nature of the assistance provided by the external specialist. (Ref: par. X.A23-X.A24)	X.A23 The practitioner’s education and experience enable the practitioner to be knowledgeable about business matters in general, but the practitioner is not expected to have the expertise of a person trained for or qualified to engage in the practice of another profession or occupation. In certain circumstances, it may be appropriate to involve a practitioner’s external specialist to assist the practitioner in the performance of one or more procedures. The following are examples of such circumstances. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • An attorney providing assistance concerning the interpretation of legal terminology in laws, regulations, rules, contracts, or grants • A medical specialist providing assistance in understanding the characteristics of diagnosis codes documented in patient medical records • An environmental engineer providing assistance in interpreting environmental remedial action regulatory directives that may affect the selected procedures applied to an environmental liabilities account in a financial statement • A geologist providing assistance in distinguishing between the physical characteristics of a generic minerals group related to information to which the selected procedures are applied X.A24 A practitioner may decide to apply procedures to the report or work product of an external specialist that does not constitute assistance by the

For example, the practitioner may make reference to information contained in a report of a practitioner’s external specialist in describing a specified procedure. However, it is inappropriate for the practitioner to merely read the external specialist’s report solely to describe or repeat the findings or to take responsibility for all or a portion of any procedures performed by an external specialist or the external specialist’s work product.
Using the Work of Internal Auditors or Other Practitioners	Using the Work of Internal Auditors or Other Practitioners
X.15 The selected procedures to be enumerated or referred to in the practitioner’s report should be performed entirely by the engagement team or other practitioners. (Ref: par. X.A25–.X.A27)	Using the Work of Internal Auditors (Ref: par. X.15) X.A25 Internal auditors or other personnel may prepare schedules and accumulate data or provide other information for the practitioner’s use in performing the selected procedures. Also, internal auditors may perform and report separately on procedures that they have carried out. Such procedures may be similar to those that a practitioner may perform under this proposed standard. X.A26 A practitioner may perform procedures on information documented in the working papers of internal auditors. For example, the practitioner may <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • repeat all or some of the procedures. • determine whether the internal auditors’ documentation indicates procedures performed and whether the findings documented are presented in a report by the internal auditors. X.A27 It is inappropriate for the practitioner to <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • merely read the internal auditors’ report solely to describe or repeat their findings. • take responsibility for all or a portion of any procedures performed by internal auditors by reporting those findings as the practitioner’s own. • report in any manner that implies shared responsibility for the

Written Representations X.19 The practitioner is not required to request or obtain written representations from the engaging party (Ref: par. X.A32-X.A34) X.20 When the practitioner decides to request written representations from the engaging party, the engaging party's refusal to furnish written representations determined by the practitioner to be appropriate for the engagement constitutes a limitation on the performance of the engagement. Disclose in the practitioner's selected procedures report the inability to obtain representations from the engaging party; or b. Withdraw from the engagement. 	Written Representations (Ref: par. Preparing the Practitioner’s Report	Preparing the Practitioner’s Report (Ref: par. X.21)
X.21 The practitioner’s report on selected procedures should be in writing. (Ref: par. X.A35) X.22 The practitioner’s report on selected procedures should be in the form of procedures and findings.	X.A35 This proposed standard does not require a standardized format for reporting on all selected procedures engagements. Instead it identifies the basic elements that the report on selected procedures is to include. Reports on selected procedures are tailored to the specific engagement circumstances. The practitioner may use headings, separate paragraphs, paragraph numbers, typographical devices (for example, the bolding of text), and other mechanisms to enhance the clarity and readability of the selected procedures report.

X.A39 A practitioner may be asked to apply selected procedures to more than one subject matter. In these engagements the practitioner may issue one practitioner’s report that refers to all subject matter covered. X.A40 Because the practitioner is precluded from expressing an opinion or conclusion about whether the subject matter is in accordance with specified criteria, in identifying the nature of the selected procedures engagement it would not be appropriate to state that the purpose of the engagement was to determine if the subject matter was performed or is stated in accordance with specified criteria or that the practitioner performed the engagement to conclude as to whether the entity complied with specified criteria. X.A41 There may be circumstances in which no party accepts responsibility for the subject matter of the engagement.
d. For example, when the terms of the selected procedures engagement require the practitioner to supply the practitioner’s selected procedures report only to specified parties, the practitioner may consider it necessary in the circumstances to include a separate paragraph in the practitioner’s selected procedures report that restricts the use of the practitioner’s selected procedures report. X.A50 The need for restriction on the use of a report may result from a number of circumstances, including the purpose of the report, the criteria used in preparation of the subject matter, the extent to which procedures performed are known or understood, and the potential for the report to be misunderstood when taken out of the context in which it was intended to be used
