

Jackie Brown
Maryland Association of CPAs

Jackie Brown has held various positions at Maryland Association of CPAs since 1980 and been COO for nearly 20 years. She has also served as COO and Vice President of MACPA's affiliate, the Business Learning Institute since its formation in 1999. She is a certified facilitator of i2A - Insights to Action - Strategic Planning and Visioning System and has used those skills to benefit not only members and clients, but several non-profits that she cares about. A graduate of Loyola University, Baltimore and the US Chamber of Commerce Institute for Organizational Management, Jackie has served on the AICPA Future of Learning Task Force as well as the National Commission on Financial Literacy. In the past she has also served on other national planning committees and chaired the AICPA and CPA/SEA conference, Interchange. Jackie's passions are her faith, family and the work she does to help CPAs and future CPAs keep their L (Learning) > C (Change).
