Proposed Statement on Auditing Standards The Auditor's Responsibilities Relating to Other Information Included in Annual Reports	12

EXPLANATORY MEMORANDUM

Introduction

This memorandum provides background on the proposed Statement on Auditing Standards (SAS) The Auditor's Responsibilities Relating to Other Information Included in Annual Reports. The proposed SAS will supersede AU-C section 720, Other Information in Documents Containing Audited Financial Statements.¹

Background

The Auditing Standards Board (ASB) recognizes the importance of standards harmonization, both within the United States and between countries. The pervasiveness of international business activity supports the closer harmonization of audit and attest services to provide efficient, high-quality audit services that meet the needs of a wide community of users. The integrity of reporting on financial information is strengthened when auditing standards are harmonized to a high level of quality. Thus, the ASB has a strategic objective of contributing to the development of high-quality auditing, attestation, and quality control standards of the International Auditing and Assurance Standards Board (IAASB). The ASB also has a strategic objective to converge its standards with those of the IAASB, while avoiding unnecessary differences between its standards and those of the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board.

In accordance with that strategy, the ASB observed and provided input to the IAASB's project to clarify and increase the auditor's involvement with other information—defined as financial or nonfinancial information (other than financial statements and the auditor's report thereon)—included in an entity's annual report.

In April 2015, the IAASB issued International Standard on Auditing (ISA) 720 (Revised), The Auditor's Responsibilities Relating to Other Information. ISA 720 (Revised) includes new requirements related to auditor reporting on other information that are intended to complement the changes arising from the January 2015 issuance of new and revised ISAs relating to reporting on audited financial statements. The ASB has exposed for public comment a separate set of proposed standards to converge with the auditor reporting ISAs:

- Omnibus Statement on Auditing Standards—2018
- Auditor Reporting

Convergence

In accordance with the strategy described the first paragraph under “Background,” the ASB determined it was appropriate to use ISA 720 (Revised) as the base in making the proposed revisions to AU-C section 720.

The ASB has made certain changes to the language of ISA 720 (Revised) to use terms or phrases that are more common in the United States, and to tailor examples and guidance to the U.S. environment. However, the ASB believes that such changes will not create substantive differences in application between ISA 720 (Revised) and the proposed SAS.

Benefits of the Proposed SAS

The ASB believes that, if issued as a final standard, the proposed SAS will benefit users of audited financial statements and other information in the following ways:

- By improving audit quality by bringing greater consistency regarding auditors’ consideration of other information and reducing diversity in practice with respect to documents that are considered to be within the scope of the proposed SAS;
- By increasing the value of the audit, without changing its scope, in a cost-beneficial manner, through enhancing the auditor’s responsibility with respect to the other information; and
- By narrowing potential or existing expectation gaps through requiring auditors to articulate in their reports their responsibilities under the proposed SAS, and the outcome of their work relative to the other information

See the subsequent section “Changes From Extant Standards” for a summary of the changes to extant AU-C section 720 that would result from the proposed SAS.

Format of the Exposure Draft

This exposure draft is presented in columnar format in which requirements and related application guidance are presented side by side instead of in the more customary sequential presentation. This approach has been efficient for the ASB in developing and reviewing the proposed SAS, and it is used here for the benefit of respondents. The final SAS will be issued in the traditional format.

Effective Date

If issued as final, the proposed SAS will be effective for audits of financial statements for periods beginning on or after June 15, 2019. This effective date is provisional but will not be earlier than June 15, 2019. Early implementation is not permitted.

Changes From Extant Standards

The following summarizes what the ASB believes would be the most significant changes to extant AU-C section 720 if the proposed standard is issued.

The supplementary material accompanying this exposure draft includes a document that provides a detailed comparison of the proposed SAS to ISA 720 (Revised) and extant AU-C section 720. This document may be helpful for respondents in further understanding the changes being proposed.

Clarification of Documents That Are Within the Scope of the Standard

The proposed standard clarifies the scope of documents that the auditor is required to subject to the procedures. The ASB believes that in practice, extant AU-C section 720 is often applied more broadly than intended. Though the title of extant AU-C section 720 is Other Information in Documents Containing Audited Financial Statements, paragraph .02 of AU-C section 720 states documents containing audited financial statements refers to annual reports (or similar documents) that are issued to owners (or similar stakeholders) and annual reports of governments and organizations for charitable or philanthropic purposes that are available to the public that contain audited financial statements and the auditor's report thereon. Accordingly, the title of the proposed SAS is The Auditor's Responsibilities Regarding Other Information Included in Annual Reports.

Annual report is defined in paragraph 12 of the proposed SAS as follows:

Annual report. A document, or combination of documents, prepared typically on an annual basis by management or those charged with governance in accordance with law, regulation, or custom, the purpose of which is to provide owners (or similar stakeholders) with information on the entity's operations and the entity's financial results and financial position as set out in the financial statements. An annual report contains, accompanies, or incorporates by reference the financial statements and the auditor's report thereon and usually includes information about the entity's developments, its future outlook and risks and uncertainties, a statement by the entity's governing body, and reports covering governance matters. Annual reports include annual reports of governments and organizations for charitable or philanthropic purposes that are available to the public.

To further clarify, paragraph A10 of the proposed standard states that though a document may be referred to as an annual report, such document may not meet the definition of annual report for purposes of this proposed SAS.

Paragraph 9 of the proposed standard states that the standard does not apply to supplemental information addressed by AU-C section 725, Supplementary Information in Relation to the Financial Statements as a Whole, or required supplementary information addressed by AU-C section 730, Required Supplementary Information. Paragraph A3 further states that other AU-C sections provide requirements and guidance with respect to information in certain documents other than annual reports (for example, AU-C section 945, Auditor Involvement With Exempt Offering Documents).

Specific Request for Comment 1

Do the proposed revisions clarify the scope of documents required to be subjected to the auditor's procedures? If you believe additional revisions or guidance is necessary, please be specific and provide reasons why additional revisions or guidance is necessary.

Determining Which Documents Constitute the Entity's Annual Report

The proposed standard includes a requirement for the auditor to determine, through discussion with management, and obtain management's written acknowledgment regarding, which document or documents make up the annual report, and the entity's planned manner and timing of the issuance of such document or documents.² This requirement is intended to ensure that both the auditor and management understand the documents that are considered to constitute the entity's annual report and therefore are subject to the auditor's required procedures.

Specific Request for Comment 2

Does the proposed requirement for the auditor to determine, through discussion with management, and obtain management's written acknowledgment regarding, which document or documents make up the annual report, and the entity's planned manner and timing of the issuance of such documents appropriately achieve the intent of ensuring that both the auditor and management understand the documents that are considered to constitute the entity's annual report and therefore are subject to the auditor's procedures required by the proposed SAS?

Reading the Other Information

In accordance with the proposed SAS, the objectives of the auditor, having read the other information, include the following:

- a. Consider whether there is a material inconsistency between the other information and the financial statements.
- b. Consider whether there is a material inconsistency between the other information and the auditor's knowledge obtained in the audit.
- c. Respond appropriately when the auditor identifies that such material inconsistencies appear to exist, or when the auditor otherwise becomes aware that other information appears to be materially misstated.

The proposed SAS expands and clarifies the auditor's responsibilities with respect to other information. Further, in accordance with the definition in the proposed SAS, "a misstatement of the other information exists when the other information is incorrectly stated or otherwise misleading (including because it omits or obscures information necessary for a proper understanding of a matter disclosed in the other information)." The term misstatement of the other information is intended to be broader than but to encompass the defined terms inconsistency and misstatement of fact from extant AU-C section 720. Those terms are defined in extant AU-C section 720 as follows:

Inconsistency. Other information that conflicts with information contained in the audited financial statements. A material inconsistency may raise doubt about the audit conclusions drawn from audit evidence previously obtained and, possibly, about the basis for the auditor's opinion on the financial statements.

Misstatement of fact. Other information that is unrelated to matters appearing in the audited financial statements that is incorrectly stated or presented. A material misstatement of fact may undermine the credibility of the document containing audited financial statements.

Further, extant AU-C section 720 does not require the auditor to consider whether the other information omits or obscures information necessary for a proper understanding of a matter. To provide guidance to auditors with respect to this point, the proposed SAS includes the following application paragraphs:

² Paragraph 13 of the proposed SAS, The Auditor's Responsibilities Relating to Other Information Included in Annual Reports

A12. When a particular matter is disclosed in the other information, the other information may omit information that is necessary for a proper understanding of that matter or, in light of the circumstances, to keep the other information from being misleading. The auditor is not responsible for searching for omitted information or for the completeness of the other information.

A13. Other information may be undermined by the inclusion of information that is not relevant or that obscures a proper understanding of the matters disclosed.

Specific Request for Comment 3

- Will the work effort required by the proposed standard, in view of the proposed definitions, result in an improvement of the auditor’s understanding of the auditor’s responsibility for other information and, as a result, enable the auditor to perform a more thorough reading and challenging of statements included in (or omitted from) the other information that are inconsistent with the audited financial statements or the auditor’s knowledge obtained as part of the audit?
- Does the proposed SAS provide adequate guidance with respect to the auditor’s consideration of omitted or obscured information?

Knowledge of Component Auditors When the Group Auditor Decides to Make Reference to a Component Auditor in the Auditor’s Report on the Group Financial Statements

In accordance with paragraph 15*b* of the proposed SAS, the auditor is required to read the other information and, in doing so, consider whether there is a material inconsistency between the other information and the auditor’s knowledge obtained in the audit, in the context of audit evidence obtained and conclusions reached in the audit. To address implications in a group audit situation, the proposed SAS includes the following application guidance:

A38. In the case of a group audit, though the group auditor is required to read the entirety of the other information if, in accordance with paragraph .24 of AU-C section 600, Special Considerations—Audits of Group Financial Statements (Including the Work of Component Auditors), the group auditor decides to make reference to a component auditor in the auditor’s report on the group financial statements, the group auditor’s knowledge does not extend beyond that obtained by the group auditor during the audit of the group financial statements.

Specific Request for Comment 4

Does the proposed SAS provide adequate guidance for group auditors when a group auditor decides to make reference to a component auditor in the auditor’s report on the group financial statements?

Reporting

The proposed SAS requires that the auditor’s report include a separate section with the heading “Other Information,” or other appropriate heading, when, at the date of the auditor’s report, the auditor has obtained some or all of the other information. The intent is to bring transparency of the auditor’s work with respect to other information.

Extant AU-C section 720 does not require the auditor to reference the other information in the auditor's report on the financial statements. However, the auditor is not prohibited from including an other-matter paragraph disclaiming an opinion on the other information.

To illustrate, the following is an example of an “other information” paragraph that an auditor may include in the auditor’s report on the financial statements when the auditor has not identified a material misstatement of the other information. The illustration is included in an appendix to the proposed SAS along with other illustrations.

Other Information [Included in the Annual Report]

Management is responsible for the other information [included in the annual report]. The other information comprises the [information included in the X report],³ but does not include the financial statements and our auditor’s report thereon.

Our opinion on the financial statements does not cover the other information and we do not express an opinion or any form of assurance on it.

In connection with our audit of the financial statements, our responsibility is to read the other information and, in doing so, consider whether the other information is materially inconsistent with the financial statements or our knowledge obtained in the audit or otherwise appears to be materially misstated. If, based on the work we have performed, we conclude that there is a material misstatement of this other information, we are required to report that fact. We have nothing to report in this regard.

Specific Request for Comment 5

Does the proposed requirement for the auditor to include a separate section in the auditor’s report addressing other information appropriately convey the nature and extent of the auditor’s consideration of other information without inappropriately implying that the auditor has obtained assurance on or is expressing an opinion or conclusion on the other information?

Guide for Respondents

Please provide comments on specific requests for comment nos. 1–5 as well as any general comments on the content of the proposed SAS.

Comments are most helpful when they refer to specific paragraphs, include the reasons for the comments, and (when appropriate) make specific recommendations for any suggested changes to wording. If you agree with proposals in the exposure draft, it will be helpful for the ASB to be made aware of this view, as well.

Written comments on the exposure draft will become part of the public record of the AICPA and will be available for public inspection at the AICPA offices after May 15, 2018, for a period of one year. Responses should be sent to Mike Glynn at mike.glynn@aicpa-cima.com by May 15, 2018.

³ A more specific description of the other information, such as “the management report and chairman’s statement,” may be used to identify the other information.

Supplement to the Exposure Draft

To assist respondents in identifying changes and in responding to this request to comment on the proposed SAS, the Audit and Attest Standards staff has prepared a document that provides a detailed comparison of the proposed SAS to ISA 720 (Revised) and extant AU-C section 720. The document is structured in four columns as follows:

1. ISA 720 (Revised)
2. Extant AU-C section 720
3. The requirements and application material of the proposed SAS, marked to show differences in language between ISA 720 (Revised) and the proposed SAS
4. Comments

This staff-prepared supplementary material is available on the AICPA website at <https://www.aicpa.org/research/exposedrafts/accountingandauditing.html>. It is for informational purposes only and does not form part of the exposure draft; however, it may be useful for respondents in formulating comments.

Comment Period

The comment period for this exposure draft ends on May 15, 2018.

Proposed Revised AU-C section 720, The Auditor’s Responsibilities Relating to Other Information Included in Annual Reports

ISA 720 (Revised) used as base.⁴

Introduction, Effective Date, Objective, Definitions, and Requirements Paragraphs	Application and Other Explanatory Material
Introduction
Scope of This Proposed SAS	Scope of This Proposed SAS (Ref: par. 1–2 and 9)
1. This proposed Statement on Auditing Standards (SAS) addresses the auditor’s responsibilities relating to other information, whether financial or nonfinancial information (other than financial statements and the auditor’s report thereon), included in an entity’s annual report. An entity’s annual report may be a single document or a combination of documents that serve the same purpose. (Ref: par. A1)	A1. There may be circumstances in which, at the date of the auditor’s report, the entity is considering the development of a document that may constitute or may be part of the entity’s annual report (for example, a voluntary report to stakeholders) but management is unable to confirm to the auditor the purpose of such a document. If the auditor is unable to ascertain the purpose of such a document or whether it will be issued, the document is not considered other information for purposes of this proposed SAS.

2. This proposed SAS also may be applied, adapted as necessary in the circumstances, to other documents to which the auditor, at management’s request, devotes attention. (Ref: par. A2–A4)	A2. In instances in which the auditor applies this proposed SAS to other documents to which the auditor, at management’s request, devotes attention, all of the requirements of this proposed SAS, including those requirements regarding reporting, are applicable, adapted as necessary in the circumstances. A3. Other AU-C sections provide requirements and guidance with respect to information in certain documents other than annual reports. For example, AU-C section 945, Auditor Involvement With Exempt Offering Documents. A4. This proposed SAS also addresses other information for which a designated accounting standard setter¹ has issued standards or guidance regarding the format to be used and content to be included when such information is voluntarily presented in an annual report—for example, GASB Statement No. 44, Economic Condition Reporting: The Statistical Section. ¹ Designated accounting standards setter is defined in paragraph .04 of AU-C section 730, Required Supplementary Information.
3. This proposed SAS is written in the context of an audit of financial statements by an independent auditor. Accordingly, the objectives of the auditor in this proposed SAS are to be understood in the context of the overall objectives of the auditor as stated in paragraph .12 of AU-C section 200, Overall Objectives of the Independent Auditor and the Conduct of an Audit in Accordance With Generally Accepted Auditing Standards. The requirements in the standards are designed to enable the auditor to achieve the objectives specified in the standards, and thereby the overall objectives

of the auditor. The auditor’s opinion on the financial statements does not cover the other information, nor does this proposed SAS require the auditor to obtain audit evidence beyond that required to form an opinion on the financial statements.
4. This proposed SAS requires the auditor to read and consider the other information because other information that is materially inconsistent with the financial statements or the auditor’s knowledge obtained in the audit may indicate that there is a material misstatement of the financial statements or that a material misstatement of the other information exists, either of which may undermine the credibility of the financial statements and the auditor’s report thereon. Such material misstatements may also inappropriately influence the economic decisions of the users for whom the auditor’s report is prepared.
5. Other information may include amounts or other items that are intended to be the same as, to summarize, or to provide greater detail about amounts or other items in the financial statements and other amounts or other items about which the auditor has obtained knowledge in the audit. Other information may also include other matters.
6. The auditor’s responsibilities relating to other information (other than applicable reporting responsibilities) apply regardless of whether the other information is obtained by the auditor prior to or after the date of the auditor’s report.

Introduction, Effective Date, Objective, Definitions, and Requirements Paragraphs	Application and Other Explanatory Material
7. The auditor’s responsibilities under this proposed SAS do not constitute an assurance engagement on other information or impose an obligation on the auditor to obtain assurance about the other information.
8. Law or regulation may impose additional obligations on the auditor in relation to other information that are beyond the scope of this proposed SAS.
9. This proposed SAS does not apply to supplemental information addressed by AU-C section 725, Supplementary Information in Relation to the Financial Statements as a Whole, or required supplementary information addressed by AU-C section 730, Required Supplementary Information. (Ref: par. A3)
Effective Date
10. This proposed SAS will be effective for audits of financial statements for periods beginning on or after June 15, 2019.* Early implementation is not permitted. * This proposed effective date is provisional but will not be earlier than June 15, 2019.
Objectives

11. The objectives of the auditor, having read the other information, are as follows: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> a. To consider whether there is a material inconsistency between the other information and the financial statements b. To consider whether there is a material inconsistency between the other information and the auditor’s knowledge obtained in the audit c. To respond appropriately when the auditor identifies that such material inconsistencies appear to exist, or when the auditor otherwise becomes aware that other information appears to be materially misstated d. To report in accordance with this proposed SAS

financial position as set out in the financial statements. An annual report contains, accompanies, or incorporates by reference the financial statements and the auditor’s report thereon and usually includes information about the entity’s developments, its future outlook and risks and uncertainties, a statement by the entity’s governing body, and reports covering governance matters. Annual reports include annual reports of governments and organizations for charitable or philanthropic purposes that are available to the public. (Ref: par. A5–A11)	A6. An annual report is typically prepared on an annual basis. However, when the financial statements being audited are prepared for a period less than or more than a year, an annual report may also be prepared that covers the same period as the financial statements. A7. In some cases, an entity’s annual report may be a single document and referred to by the title “Annual Report” or by some other title. In other cases, law, regulation, or custom may require the entity to report to owners (or similar stakeholders) information on the entity’s operations and the entity’s financial results and financial position as set out in the financial statements (that is, an annual report) by way of a single document, or by way of two or more separate documents that in combination serve the same purpose. A8. An annual report may be made available to users in printed form, or electronically, including on the entity’s website. A document (or combination of documents) may meet the definition of an annual report, irrespective of the manner in which it is made available to users. A9. An annual report is different in nature, purpose, and content from other reports, such as a report prepared to meet the information needs of a specific stakeholder group or a report prepared to comply with a specific regulatory reporting objective (even when such a report is required to be publicly available). Examples of reports that, when issued as stand-alone documents, are not typically part of the combination of documents that make up an annual report (subject to law, regulation, or custom), and that, therefore, are not other information within the scope of this proposed SAS, include the following: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • IRS Form 990, Return of Organization Exempt From Income Tax

Other information may be undermined by the inclusion of information that is not relevant or that obscures a proper understanding of the matters disclosed. A14. The concept of materiality may be discussed in a framework applicable to the other information and, if so, such a framework may provide a frame of reference for the auditor in making judgments about materiality under this proposed SAS. In many cases, however, there may be no applicable framework that includes a discussion of the concept of materiality as it applies to the other information. In such circumstances, the following characteristics provide the auditor with a frame of reference in determining if a misstatement of the other information is material: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Materiality is considered in the context of the common information needs of users as a group. The users of the other information are expected to be the same as the users of the financial statements because such users may be expected to read the other information to provide context to the financial statements. • Judgments about materiality take into account the specific circumstances of the misstatement, considering whether users would be influenced by the effect of the uncorrected misstatement. Not all misstatements will influence the economic decisions of users.

A16–A26) a. Determine, through discussion with management, and obtain management’s written acknowledgment regarding, which document or documents compose the annual report, and the entity’s planned manner and timing of the issuance of such documents. b. Make appropriate arrangements with management to obtain in a timely manner and, if possible, prior to the date of the auditor’s report, the final version of the document or documents composing the annual report.	A16. Determining the document or documents that make up the annual report is often clear based on law, regulation, or custom. In many cases, management or those charged with governance may have customarily issued a package of documents that together make up the annual report, or may have committed to do so. In some cases, it may not be clear which documents make up the annual report. In such cases, the timing and purpose of the documents (and for whom they are intended) are matters that may be relevant to the auditor’s determination of which documents are the annual report. A17. Management’s written acknowledgment of the documents that constitute the annual report and the expected timing that such documents will be made available to the auditor may be included in the engagement letter, an amendment to the engagement letter, a representation letter, or some other written communication. A18. Management, or those charged with governance, is responsible for preparing the annual report. The auditor may communicate the following to management or those charged with governance: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The auditor’s expectations in relation to obtaining the final version of the annual report (including a combination of documents that together make up the annual report) in a timely manner prior to the date of the auditor’s report such that the auditor can complete the procedures required by this proposed SAS before the date of the auditor’s report, or if that is not possible, as soon as practicable and in any case prior to the entity’s issuance of such information

Paragraph .17 of AU-C section 200 requires the auditor to plan and perform the audit with professional skepticism. Maintaining professional skepticism when reading and considering the other information includes, for example, recognizing that management may be overly optimistic about the success of its plans and being alert to information that may be inconsistent with the financial statements or the auditor’s knowledge obtained in the audit. A29. In accordance with AU-C section 220,³ the engagement partner is required to take responsibility for the direction, supervision, and performance of the audit engagement in compliance with professional standards and applicable legal and regulatory requirements. In the context of this proposed SAS, factors that may be considered when determining the appropriate engagement team members to address the requirements of paragraphs 15–16 include these: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The relative experience of engagement team members • Whether the engagement team members have the relevant knowledge obtained in the audit to identify inconsistencies between the other information and that knowledge • The degree of judgment involved in addressing the requirements of paragraphs 15–16; for example, performing procedures to evaluate the consistency of amounts in the other information that are intended to be the same as amounts in the financial statements may be carried out by less experienced engagement team members • Whether, in the case of a group audit, it is necessary to make inquiries of a component auditor in addressing the other information related to that component

a. Consider whether there is a material inconsistency between the other information and the financial statements. As the basis for this consideration, the auditor should, to evaluate their consistency, compare selected amounts or other items in the other information (that are intended to be the same as, to summarize, or to provide greater detail about the amounts or other items in the financial statements) with such amounts or other items in the financial statements. (Ref: par. Other information may include amounts or other items that are intended to be the same as, to summarize, or to provide greater detail about the amounts or other items in the financial statements. Examples of such amounts or other items may include the following: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Tables, charts, or graphs containing extracts of the financial statements • A disclosure providing greater detail about a balance or account shown in the financial statements, such as “Revenue for 20X1 was XXX million from product X and YYY million from product Y” • Descriptions of the financial results, such as “Total research and development expense was XXX in 20X1” A31. In evaluating the consistency of selected amounts or other items in the other information with the financial statements, the auditor is not required to compare all amounts or other items in the other information that are intended to be the same as, to summarize, or to provide greater detail about the amounts or other items in the financial statements, with such amounts or other items in the financial statements.

Introduction, Effective Date, Objective, Definitions, and Requirements Paragraphs	Application and Other Explanatory Material
	A32. Selecting the amounts or other items to compare is a matter of professional judgment. Factors relevant to this judgment include the following: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The significance of the amount or other item in the context in which it is presented, which may affect the importance that users would attach to the amount or other item (for example, a key ratio or amount) • If quantitative, the relative size of the amount compared with accounts or items in the financial statements or the other information to which they relate • The sensitivity of the particular amount or other item in the other information, for example, share-based payments for senior management A33. Determining the nature and extent of procedures to address the requirement in paragraph 15a is a matter of professional judgment, recognizing that the auditor’s responsibilities under this proposed SAS do not constitute an assurance engagement on the other information or impose an obligation to obtain assurance about the other information. Examples of such procedures include the following: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • For information that is intended to be the same as information in the financial statements, comparing the information to the financial statements • For information intended to convey the same meaning as disclosures in the financial statements, comparing the words used and considering the significance of differences in wording used and whether such differences imply different meanings

The auditor’s knowledge obtained in the audit may also include matters that are prospective in nature. Such matters may include, for example, business prospects and future cash flows that the auditor considered when evaluating the assumptions used by management in performing impairment tests on intangible assets such as goodwill, or when evaluating management’s evaluation of whether there are conditions or events, considered in the aggregate, that raise substantial doubt about the entity’s ability to continue as a going concern for a reasonable period of

In the case of a group audit, though the group auditor is required to read the entirety of the other information if, in accordance with paragraph .24 of AU-C section 600, Special Considerations—Audits of Group Financial Statements (Including the Work of Component Auditors), the group auditor decides to make reference to a component auditor in the auditor's report on the group financial statements, the group auditor's knowledge does not extend beyond that obtained by the group auditor during the audit of the group financial statements. A39. In considering whether there is a material inconsistency between the other information and the auditor's knowledge obtained in the audit, the auditor may focus on those matters in the other information that are of sufficient importance that a misstatement of the other information in relation to those matters could be material. A40. In relation to many matters in the other information, the auditor's recollection of the audit evidence obtained and conclusions reached during the audit may be sufficient to enable the auditor to consider whether there is a material inconsistency between the other information and the auditor's knowledge obtained in the audit. The more experienced and the more familiar with the key aspects of the audit the auditor is, the more likely it is that the auditor's recollection of relevant matters will be sufficient. For example, the auditor may be able to consider whether there is a material inconsistency between the other information and the auditor's knowledge obtained in the audit in light of the auditor's recollection of discussions held with management or those charged with governance

	or findings from procedures carried out during the audit such as the reading of board minutes, without the need to take further action. A41. The auditor may determine that referring to relevant audit documentation or making inquiries of relevant members of the engagement team or relevant component auditors (when the auditor assumes responsibility for the work of component auditors) is appropriate as a basis for the auditor’s consideration of whether a material inconsistency exists. Examples are as follows: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • When the other information describes the planned cessation of a major product line, although the auditor is aware of the planned cessation, the auditor may make inquiries of the relevant engagement team member who performed the audit procedures in this area to support the auditor’s consideration of whether the description is materially inconsistent with the auditor’s knowledge obtained during the audit. • When the other information describes important details of a lawsuit addressed in the audit, but the auditor cannot recall them adequately, it may be necessary to refer to the audit documentation where such details are summarized to support the auditor’s recollection. A42. Whether, and if so the extent to which, the auditor refers to relevant audit documentation or makes inquiries of relevant members of the engagement team or relevant component auditors is a matter of professional judgment. However, it may not be necessary for the auditor to refer to relevant audit documentation or to make inquiries of relevant members of the engagement team or relevant component auditors about any matter included in the other information. 16. While reading the other information in accordance with paragraph 15, the auditor should remain alert for indications that the other information not related to the financial statements or the auditor’s knowledge obtained in the audit appears to be materially misstated. (Ref: par. A43–A44)	Remaining Alert for Other Indications That the Other Information Appears to Be Materially Misstated (Ref: par. 16) A43. Other information may include discussion of matters that are not related to the financial statements and may also extend beyond the auditor’s knowledge obtained in the audit. For example, the other information may include statements about the entity’s greenhouse gas emissions. A44. Remaining alert for other indications that the other information appears to be materially misstated could potentially result in the auditor identifying such matters as the following: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Differences between the other information and the general knowledge, apart from the knowledge obtained in the audit, of the engagement team member reading the other information that lead the auditor to believe that the other information appears to be materially misstated • An internal inconsistency in the other information that leads the auditor to believe that the other information appears to be materially misstated

17. If the auditor identifies that a material inconsistency appears to exist (or becomes aware that the other information appears to be materially misstated), the auditor should discuss the matter with management and, if necessary, perform other procedures to conclude the following: (Ref: par. The auditor’s discussion with management about a material inconsistency (or other information that appears to be materially misstated) may include requesting management to provide support for the basis of management’s statements in the other information. Based on management’s further information or explanations, the auditor may be satisfied that the other information is not materially misstated. For example, management explanations may indicate reasonable and sufficient grounds for valid differences of judgment. A46. Conversely, the discussion with management may provide further information that supports the auditor’s conclusion that a material misstatement of the other information exists. A47. It may be more difficult for the auditor to challenge management on matters of judgment than on those of a more factual nature. However, there may be circumstances where the auditor concludes that the other information contains a statement that is not consistent with the financial statements or the auditor’s knowledge obtained in the audit. These circumstances may raise doubt about the other information, the financial statements, or the auditor’s knowledge obtained in the audit. A48. When a matter is unrelated to the financial statements or the auditor’s knowledge obtained in the audit, the auditor may not be able to fully assess management’s responses to the auditor’s inquiries. Nevertheless, based on management’s further information or explanations, or following changes made by management to the other information, the auditor may be satisfied that a material inconsistency no longer appears to exist or that the other information no longer appears to be materially misstated. When the auditor is unable to conclude that a material inconsistency no longer appears to exist or that the other information no longer appears to be materially misstated, the auditor may request management to consult with a qualified third party (for example, a management’s expert or legal counsel). In certain cases, after considering the responses from management’s consultation, the auditor may not be able to conclude whether a material misstatement of the other information exists. Actions the auditor may then take include one or more of the following: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Obtaining advice from the auditor’s legal counsel • Considering the implications for the auditor’s report, for example, whether to describe the circumstances when there is a limitation imposed by management • Withdrawing from the audit, where withdrawal is possible under applicable law or regulation

The auditor may consider whether the rationale given by management and those charged with governance for not making the correction raises doubt about the integrity or honesty of management or those charged with governance, such as when the auditor suspects an intention to mislead. The auditor may also consider it appropriate to seek legal advice. In some cases, the auditor may be required by law, regulation, or other professional standards to communicate the matter to a regulator or relevant professional body. Reporting Implications (Ref: par. 19a)

When there is a limitation of scope with respect to a material item in the financial statements, the auditor will not have obtained sufficient appropriate audit evidence about that matter. In these circumstances, the auditor may be unable to conclude whether or not the amounts or other items in the other information related to this matter result in a material misstatement of the other information. Accordingly, the auditor may need to modify the statement required by paragraph 23e to refer to the auditor’s inability to consider management’s description of the matter in the other information in respect of which the auditor’s opinion on the financial statements has been qualified as explained in the basis for qualified opinion paragraph. The auditor is nevertheless required to report any other uncorrected material misstatements of the other information that have been identified. Adverse Opinion A63. When an adverse opinion has been expressed on the financial statements, the auditor may need to appropriately modify the statement required by paragraph 23e, for example, to indicate that amounts or items in the other information are materially misstated for the same matter as, or a related matter to, the matter giving rise to the adverse opinion on the financial statements. Disclaimer of Opinion A64. When the auditor disclaims an opinion on the financial statements, providing further details about the audit, including a section to address other information, may overshadow the disclaimer of opinion on the financial statements as a whole. Accordingly, in those circumstances, as required by proposed revised AU-C section 705, the auditor’s report does not include a section addressing the reporting requirements under this proposed SAS.

Other Information [Included in the Annual Report]

Management is responsible for the other information [included in the annual report]. The other information comprises the [information included in the X report],¹ but does not include the financial statements and our auditor’s report thereon.

Our opinion on the financial statements does not cover the other information and we do not express an opinion or any form of assurance on it.

In connection with our audit of the financial statements, our responsibility is to read the other information and, in doing so, consider whether the other information is materially inconsistent with the financial statements or our knowledge obtained in the audit or otherwise appears to be materially misstated. If, based on the work we have performed, we conclude that there is a material misstatement of this other information, we are required to report that fact. We have nothing to report in this regard.

Illustration 2: The auditor Has Concluded That a Material Misstatement of the Other Information Exists.

Other Information [Included in the Annual Report]

Management is responsible for the other information [included in the annual report]. The other information comprises [the information included in the X report],² but does not include the financial statements and our auditor’s report thereon.

Our opinion on the financial statements does not cover the other information and we do not express an opinion or any form of assurance on it.

In connection with our audit of the financial statements, our responsibility is to read the other information and, in doing so, consider whether the other information is materially inconsistent with the financial statements or our knowledge obtained in the audit or otherwise appears to be materially misstated.

If, based on the work we have performed, we conclude that there is a material misstatement of this other information, we are required to report that fact. As described below, we have concluded that such a material misstatement of the other information exists.

¹ A more specific description of the other information, such as “the management report and chairman’s statement,” may be used to identify the other information.

² A more specific description of the other information, such as “the management report and chairman’s statement,” may be used to identify the other information.

Illustration 3: A Limitation of Scope With Respect to a Material Item in the Consolidated Financial Statements Also Affects the Other Information

Other Information [Included in the Annual Report]

Management is responsible for the other information [included in the annual report]. The other information comprises [the information included in the X report],³ but does not include the financial statements and our auditor’s report thereon.

Our opinion on the financial statements does not cover the other information and we do not express an opinion or any form of assurance on it.

In connection with our audit of the financial statements, our responsibility is to read the other information and, in doing so, consider whether the other information is materially inconsistent with the financial statements or our knowledge obtained in the audit or otherwise appears to be materially misstated.

If, based on the work we have performed, we conclude that there is a material misstatement of this other information, we are required to report that fact. As described in the Basis for Qualified Opinion paragraph, we were unable to obtain sufficient appropriate evidence about the carrying amount of ABC Company’s investment in XYZ Company as of December 31, 20X1 and ABC Company’s share of XYZ Company’s net income for the year. Accordingly, we are unable to conclude whether the other information is materially misstated with respect to this matter.

Other Information [Included in the Annual Report]

Management is responsible for the other information [included in the annual report]. The other information comprises [the information included in the X report],⁴ but does not include the financial statements and our auditor’s report thereon.

Our opinion on the financial statements does not cover the other information and we do not express an opinion or any form of assurance on it.

³ A more specific description of the other information, such as “the management report and chairman’s statement,” may be used to identify the other information.

⁴ A more specific description of the other information, such as “the management report and chairman’s statement,” may be used to identify the other information.

In connection with our audit of the financial statements, our responsibility is to read the other information and, in doing so, consider whether the other information is materially inconsistent with the financial statements or our knowledge obtained in the audit or otherwise appears to be materially misstated.

If, based on the work we have performed, we conclude that there is a material misstatement of this other information, we are required to report that fact. As described in the Basis for Adverse Opinion paragraph, ABC Company should have consolidated XYZ Company. We have concluded that the other information is materially misstated for the same reason with respect to the amounts or other items in the X report affected by the failure to consolidate XYZ Company.
